U.S. Drops Leaflets

N. Viets Urged To Join South

By GEORGE ESPEHR

SAIGON (AP) — As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

Skydiver Folds Hands In Prayer, Falls To Death

ROCKLEDGE, Fla. (AP) — Carrying the signed contract for his own funeral and wearing two parachutes, skydiver John Wasik stepped from an airplane Sunday at 3,200 feet. Instead of gripping the ripcord he folded his hands in prayer and crashed to his death.

Five weeks earlier almost to the hour Wasik stood below at Green Air Park and watched his pretty wife, Rickie, 22, bail out of the same plane on her second jump and die near his feet after her chute tangled.

Shattered by the death of his wife, whom he married one year ago today, Wasik told a reporter, "She took up skydiving just to please me."

The papers in his wallet indicated Wasik wanted to be buried beside his wife in the $1,700 silver casket he had chosen.

Wasik was an aerospace reporter and he continued on the job, returning to sport parachuting after the accident.

"He told me it is the best way to die, the way Rickie would want to die," said Pearl S. Leech, Wasik's editor at the Melbourne, Fla., Daily Times. "She would want to die having fun; doing what she wanted to do."

But Many Important Bills Await Voting

Find It Hard To Keep House Busy

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Congress is expected to stay in session until late this year, Democratic leaders are having a difficult time finding enough business to keep the House busy.

When Rep. James A. Haley, D-Fla., complained last week that the House should meet five days a week, finish its business and go home, Democratic Leader Carl Albert replied that the House works each week until it finishes its business.

"We do work all the time trying to get the legislative business from the committees of the House and from the committee on rules which must clear legislation for floor consideration in order to have a full week of business," the Oklahoma Democrat told Haley.

But most of the important bills that still have to be passed, such as the anti-poverty measure and the President's tax increase proposal, are so deeply buried in committees there is little likelihood of early House action.

In a way, it is a vicious cycle. The House does not schedule business on Fridays and some Mondays, but then committees are unable to meet those days since many members go home since the House is not meeting. Thus, the House falls behind schedule, and so do the committees.

The Senate is still far behind the House in considering appropriations bills, having passed nine to 14 for the House. Moreover, the Senate will have to wait for House action before it can even take up the tax increase.

During the past week, the leadership barely managed to round up enough bills and get them through the Rules Committee to put together enough business to keep House members busy in the coming week.

Except for an important bill to expand the federal program to prevent juvenile delinquency, the program consists of such things as an amendment to the Packers and Stockyards Act, the Fire Research and Safety Act and the monthly resolution to provide for continued appropriations at last year's levels because the fiscal 1968 money measures have not been approved.

Should action on these be completed, the leadership might have only two major bills with

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B52 bombing attacks in the area.

Meanwhile, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said because of allied victories over the last two years, "We are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success may be viewed with increasing clarity."

He told South Korean troops in Saigon the allies "have taken tremendous strides toward military victory over the past two years."

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. Marine outpost just 2½ miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam reportedly has perhaps 35,000 troops.

Weekend Traffic Mishaps Kill 10 In Illinois

Traffic mishaps on Illinois streets and highways over the weekend left 10 persons dead. Jerome E. Puize, 50, of Wilmette was killed Sunday in a one-car mishap on Ill. 45 near Vernon Hills.

A two-car collision on U.S. 51 Sunday night near the Illinois-Wisconsin border left two persons dead and four injured. Killed in the crash were James Northrup, 27, of Davis, and Allen Lewis, 7, of Rockford.

An auto collision Sunday near West Chicago resulted in the death of Mary L. Smith, 57, De Kalb, and Marsha Micoloff, 25, West Chicago.

In a three-car crash Sunday at U.S. 41 and Illinois 22 in Highland Park, Walter H. Paschal, 20, Waukegan, was killed. Daniel B. Brown, 52, Mundelein, died early Sunday in an auto accident near Mundelein.

A Chicago man, Garcia Gomez, 19, died Sunday when his car crashed into a traffic light in Chicago.

A car ran off Illinois 16 west of Paris Saturday night, killing Roy Dean Ray, 43, Chrisman. Robert V. Speegle, 22, West Frankfort, was killed Saturday by a hit-and-run auto on U.S. 37 near West Frankfort.

'Mummy Hit Daddy' Clue To 3 Deaths

AZUSA, Calif. (AP)—A scared 3-year-old boy's dim memory that "mummy hit daddy and daddy hit mummy" held one of the few clues today into the deaths of his policeman father, mother and tiny brother.

Lost, suffering from exposure and dehydration and his left leg broken, little Michael Berg Jr. was spotted by rescuers Sunday sitting on a rock in a mountain canyon.

He is the sole survivor of a family whose head was a young, often-commended Los Angeles patrolman.

Michael Berg, 24, was found shot to death Saturday at the family's Los Angeles suburban home. The bodies of his pregnant wife, Elizabeth, and their 1-year-old son, David, were found earlier in the day in their sports car's wreckage at the bottom of a cliff.

Los Angeles County sheriff's detectives said they are investigating two possibilities: murder-suicide and a triple murder.

The little boy, recovering today at nearby Glendora community hospital, was found about a half mile from the bodies of his mother and brother.

He cried for his mother through swollen lips after gulping down some water. Rescuers said he may have been wandering in the rugged terrain for four days—the length of time his family hadn't been seen.

KERNER DECLARES MAYORS MUST LEAD IN RACE SOLUTIONS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Mayors and other local officials must act as leaders of the community in meeting racial problems, Gov. Otto Kerner said Sunday.

Kerner told the Illinois Municipal League's annual convention that law and order is a local responsibility.

The governor, emphasizing he was speaking as an individual and not as chairman of the president's commission on civil disorders, said too many people associate disorders with one ethnic group.

"This is absolutely untrue," he asserted. "We have developed in this United States of America a poverty culture, and it covers black and white, yellow and Spanish, Indian and even Eskimo."

"So many people say this is Communist inspired, and people are running from city to city in the United States, and they are the ones who are causing it."

"Don't be an ostrich," Kerner told the convention of local officials.

"Don't hide your head in the sand. Look about you and you will see it in your communities. It is in Springfield. It is in Chicago. It is in East St. Louis and it is in Urbana and Champaign."

"It is in our cities," Kerner declared, "and if we are going to solve this problem we must recognize that these people who live in poverty are sick and tired of it; and we unconsciously have put them there and we are keeping them there."

Chicagoan Lives To Tell Ordeal At Sea

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP)—A 64-year-old Chicago machinist whose home-made sailboat was disabled by storms in the Atlantic has lived to tell of a 10-week ordeal at sea that included rescuing his own companion, a pet beagle, Sheba.

Nels B. Nelson's trip to Florida was interrupted the night of July 11 off Newfoundland when a squall with "waves as high as the 41-foot mast" came up and pulled three staves from the main mast of his 30-foot craft, the Savanna.

After a New Bedford fishing boat found Nelson Sunday about 10 miles off his Cape Cod town and took his craft in tow, Nelson recounted the difficulties that had befallen him and his 3-year-old black and tan beagle.

Nelson, a bachelor, said he went forward to fix the broken mast when "something hit me on the head."

"When I woke up at daybreak I couldn't move my left arm," he said. "The tiller was snapped off, the sails were damaged and the radio was smashed."

Nelson said he managed to clamp the tiller to the rudder and catch an easterly wind toward shore, using a second mast. He encountered several other storms, but said he knew

Not Candidate, Not Going To Campaign: Percy

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—As Illinois' potential favorite son, Sen. Charles H. Percy vows to go to extraordinary lengths to keep from becoming an active participant in the pre-convention campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Percy said in an interview he will have no compunction about signing affidavits disclaiming presidential ambitions in states where that is necessary to keep his name off preferential primary ballots.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has said he would not sign such affidavits because they would conflict with his plan to become California's favorite son and "would make me a liar either in the other states or at home."

It is different with him, Percy said.

"I am not a candidate and I'm not going to campaign," Percy said. "I'm going to stay as far away from it as possible. I haven't made up my mind whom I will support for the nomination and I probably won't until next June."

Lynda Sets Date, Names Attendants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House wedding of Lynda Byrd Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, with 14 bridal attendants, will be held in the historic East Room on Saturday, Dec. 9.

The White House made the announcement today. Lynda, 23, eldest daughter of the President and Mrs. Johnson, will have her younger sister, Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent, 20, of Austin, Tex., as her matron of honor.

Close friends, relatives, and friends of the bridegroom, including one on duty now in Vietnam, will be in the bridal party. Lynda and her fiancé, Capt. Robb, 28, are vacationing at Acapulco, Mexico.

It will be an Episcopal service, but neither the time of day, nor the name of the officiating minister has yet been announced.

The maid-of-honor will be Lynda's close friend and roommate at the University of Texas, Warrie Lynn Smith, 23, of San Antonio, Tex.

Robb's best man is a fellow Marine captain—William Douglas Davidson, 26, who has been his roommate, too, at the Marine barracks in Washington.

Like Robb, he has been on duty as a White House social aide. Davidson is from Kershaw, S.C.

Nearly 1,000 Harlingen residents fled to shelter by dawn as water topped the rim of the arroyo and lapped into the neighborhoods of fine homes.

At 6:30 a.m. CDT the Arroyo surged with 38.2 feet of water—more than a foot above the predicted crest—and it still rose. A call went out for more volunteers to help crews who had spent the night building sandbag dikes around homes and

American Fourth U.S. Car Maker To Raise Prices

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said today its 1968 cars will carry price tags averaging $89 or 3.3 per cent higher than those on comparable 1967 models.

AMC's price hike was smaller in terms of dollars than the increases announced by the Big Three but on a percentage basis it was nearer their figures.

AMC's price picture was complicated by the fact that on its 1968 Ambassadors, or top-of-the-line models, air-conditioners will be standard equipment. They were a $350 option in 1967 models.

AMC said that the change in air-conditioners and in dealer discounts "does not lend itself to a meaningful comparison of price changes. However, the prices of 1968 Ambassadors compared with comparably equipped 1967 models are significantly lower."

Hunger And The U.S.

When former Vice President Richard M. Nixon addressed the National Industrial Conference Board's Convocation on World Hunger, he emphasized what he saw as a failure of American leadership abroad under the Johnson administration. This was to be expected from a leading contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

What Nixon had to say cannot fairly be shrugged off, however, as merely an expression of partisanship. Though he did take some partisan cracks at the administration—for example, he said that it had let our world leadership potential "succumb to creeping obsolescence"—the truth in some of his remarks is evident no matter where one's political sympathies may rest.

In the past year Nixon has visited 32 countries in Latin America, Europe, Asia and Africa. He has rightly concluded, in our judgment, that "seldom has a nation been so mistrusted in its purposes or so frustrated in its efforts." Though Americans in general feel that their national purposes are benevolent, the world does seem increasingly skeptical of U.S. intentions.

This has a bearing on the theme of the National Industrial Conference Board's session on world hunger. Somehow the United States is going to have to gain acceptance for involving itself even more deeply, through both government and private enterprise, in trying to avert or at least alleviate a world food crisis.

Humanitarian considerations alone dictate such a course. But let those who demand a less altruistic reason heed these words of the former vice president: "America's basic self-interest in world development stems from the brutal fact that there can be no sanctuary for the rich in a world of the starving." Whatever our motivation, the urgency of a vigorous attack on this problem is clear.

Balking At Disclosures

There are indications that federal agencies have been far from zealous about abiding by the spirit of the Freedom of Information Act, which went into effect last July 4. Rather, the tendency has been to take possible advantage of escape clauses that allow them to keep broad areas of information about public business from the public.

Some of the escape clauses are more readily justifiable than others. For example, connotations of national security are evident in the provision that the act does not apply to national defense and foreign policy matters declared secret by executive order. But there is a lot of leeway for coverups in the exemption of such things as internal agency communications, matters judged solely relating to internal agency procedures, commercial or financial data given in confidence, and so on. By interpreting questions in the agency's favor, officials can use such loopholes to justify holding back information the public is entitled to.

An agency's refusal to disclose information in a specific instance can be appealed to judicial review. The trouble is that appeals with the agency must precede this, so that substantial delay may be involved.

Some might argue that the Freedom of Information Act has not yet been given a fair trial, since it has only been effective a short time. But there is no reason to suppose that the early pattern of evasion will change if there is no protest. Happily, it is reported that Rep. John Moss of California, the author of the act, is accumulating a record of agency refusals to divulge information. The cause of the public's right to know what its government is doing would be well served if Moss were to conduct hearings soon on this important subject.

Congress-President Contest Being Revived

Editors—This is the first of several articles on the ancient but never-ending contest between the president and Congress over how much say each should have in foreign affairs. The contest is being revived by some senators dissatisfied with U.S. policy in Vietnam who seek a stronger Senate voice in foreign affairs.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Johnson thinks he has it bad, he should have seen what happened to the first president. George Washington got so fed up with abuse, not for getting the country into a war but for trying to keep it out of one, he said he'd rather be dead.

That was the start of the All-American game of heckling presidents over foreign policy but few have been hit harder than Johnson for the war in Vietnam. His critics are a mixed lot of doves who want a softer war or none and hawks who want a tougher one.

One of the most critical doves, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, has come up with a plan for clipping Johnson's wings, although he says it isn't meant to. But the resolution the Arkansas Democrat proposed in the Senate speaks for itself.

It would give the Senate a lot more say in foreign affairs than the Constitution provides and, therefore, Johnson less. If the Senate approves the resolution, Johnson can ignore it, and probably will, since it does not have the effect of law. But ignoring it would irritate the critics even more.

While Fulbright's move reflects dissatisfaction with Johnson's role in the dragged-out war in Vietnam, it's just one more play in the old and endless struggle between the White House and Congress over which has the right to do what in foreign affairs.

Its roots are in the Founding Fathers' vagueness. They were muddle-headed, inexperienced and superficial in foreign affairs when they laid down the rules for the new government in the Constitution of 1787.

After their resentments and frustrations with the British royal governors in Colonial days, they were bent on separating the powers of the various branches of the new government through checks and balances.

But, while they were almost four months debating everything else, they spent only a small part of three days on future foreign problems and then didn't seem to think any further than treaty-making. This was one of the most loosely drawn sections in the Constitution.

This is about all it said: While only Congress can declare war, the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces and can make treaties with the "advice and consent" of the Senate, provided two-thirds of the Senators agree. The struggle has been going on ever since over all the things left unsaid.

The founders didn't raise or answer questions like these: Can a president make a decision in foreign affairs without first consulting Congress? Presidents have done so. Can a president send troops into war in a foreign country without a formal declaration of war by Congress, as Johnson did in Vietnam? Other presidents besides Johnson have done so.

Washington was the first to run into the rumpus over questions like those because he was the first president who felt he had to make a foreign decision without consulting Congress. This was in 1793 when France and England went to war and he wanted to keep the young and feeble United States out of it.

Congress was not in session, yet he thought he needed to act fast. But did he have a right to, since the Constitution was silent on such a problem? He took a chance, consulted his cabinet, and announced the United States would stay neutral. The roof fell in.

He was denounced, reviled and ridiculed for doing what some thought only Congress had a right to do, although the Constitution didn't say the right belonged to Congress, either. Pro-English Americans wanted to line up with the British; pro-French Americans wanted to line up with the French.

Johnson has been plagued and besieged by antiwar-in-Vietnam demonstrators. Washington got the same treatment from anti-neutrality demonstrators, but worse. Vice President John Adams wrote later that mobs by the thousands stormed through Philadelphia, threatening to drag Washington out of his house and start a new revolution.

It was at this time Washington said he'd rather be dead. But just then a yellow fever epidemic swept Philadelphia and Adams thought later this was the only thing that saved Washington. In the end Congress, a year later, backed up the new president by passing a Neutrality Act.

The letter in your column about the mother who slipped a candy bar into her young son's pocket as she checked out her groceries in the supermarket, I recalled a story I heard in my youth.

A neighbor of ours was found guilty of murder. Before he was executed he asked to be granted one last wish — a good-bye kiss to his mother.

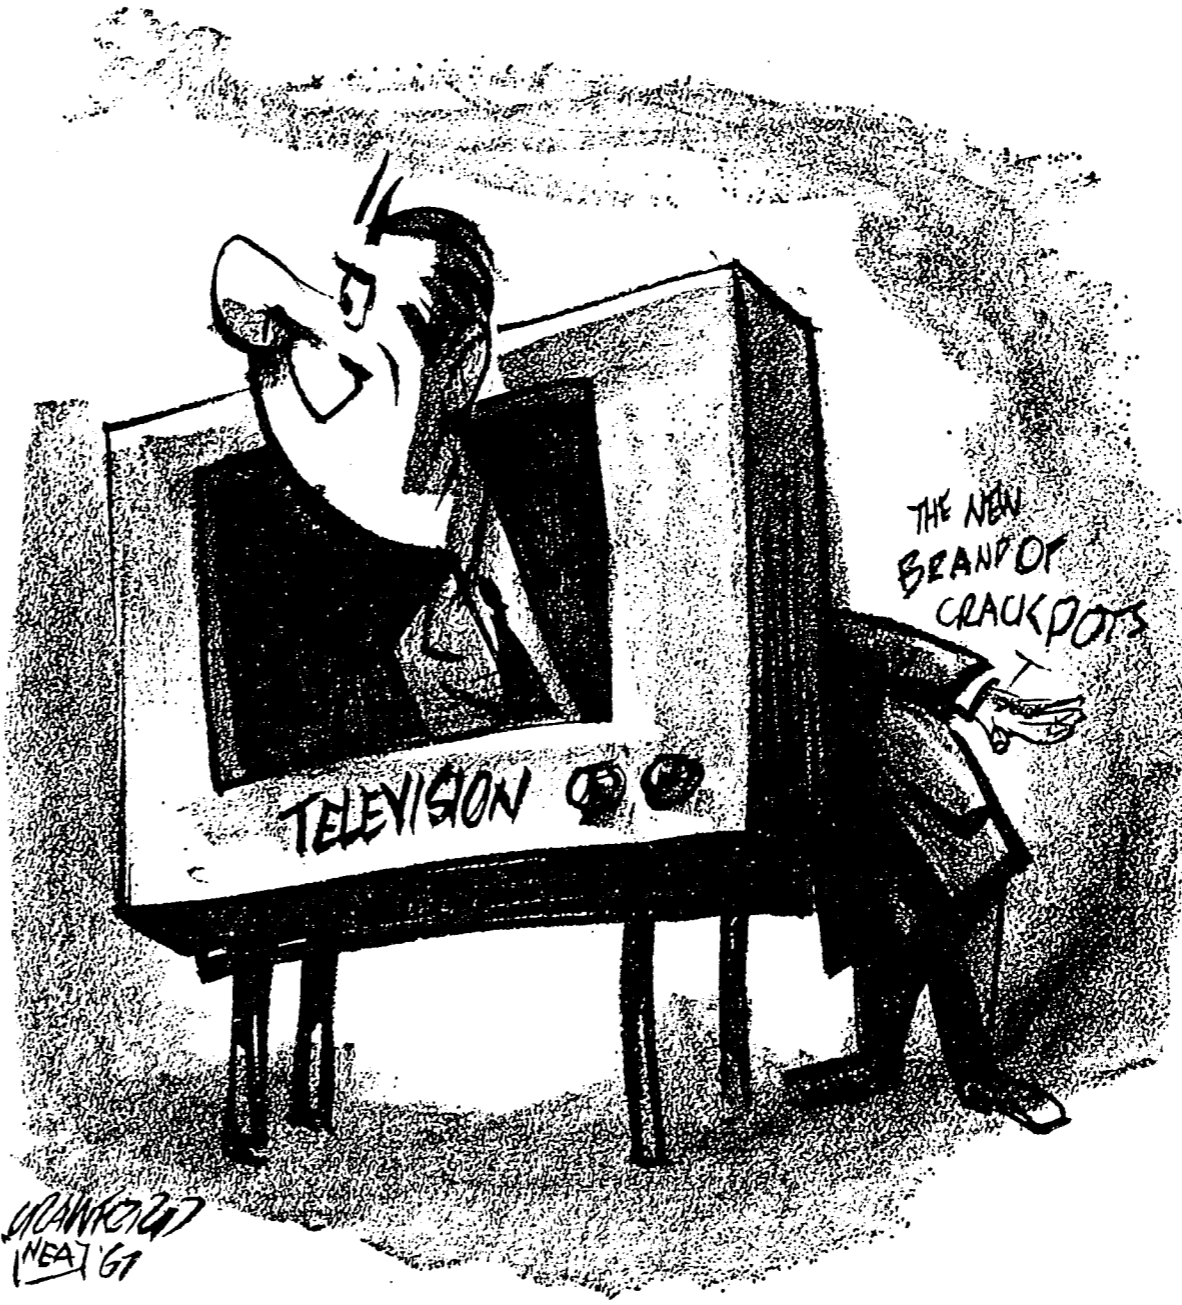

Permission was granted and his mother was brought to his cell. He leaned over pretending to kiss her and bit a chunk out of her ear. He then said to the guards, "When I was a child my mother taught me to steal. From stealing I went to violence and finally murder. I wanted my dear mother to have something to remember me by."

I think this true story is worth printing. —SILVER THREADS

Erosion Of American Spirit

Radicals Redefine Democracy

By BRUCE BIOSSAT,
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The American spirit is being corrupted in the name of preserving it.

It is easy to talk of corruption in its normal definition, and there is ample evidence of its headlong growth in this country. The more pervasive erosion, which in a critical sense underscores the other, eats away steadily at this nation's bulwarking ideas of freedom and democracy.

Earlier this year great alarm was voiced in some quarters when conservative elements drew close to forcing a U.S. constitutional convention which, it was felt, might somehow recast basic American freedoms in more constructed form.

Whatever else may be said about this undertaking, it at least follows formal procedure set forth in the Constitution.

Astonishingly, other elements in U.S. society are meantime engaged in trying arbitrarily, without the thinnest pretense of legality, to redefine democracy and freedom in the most drastic fashion.

The new left, some parts of the intellectual and academic communities which stand aside from it, and some parts of the radical right seek to alter or negate the Constitution by various devices of direct action not contemplated by that document.

In effect, they would have the Constitution read that, if and when the results reached in this country by the agreed legislative or executive government processes do not please any group (however small and limited it may be), it may try to overturn the verdict by some tactic of force — assault upon public officials, disruption of government activities, calculated interference with established procedure.

The revolutionary character of this tactic is not denied but is, instead, stoutly affirmed by its advocates. They build comfort from false parallels with colonial Americans who revolted nearly 200 years ago.

But there is no way to have a government and yet revolt against it. What the revolutionaries of 1967 urge has nothing to do with democracy, representative government or freedom as established here.

Their tactic would give to any limited group, of the right, the left or whatever, the absolute veto that goes with violent disruption. As a doctrine, it provides license for the militant few to set aside any decision taken by a representative government or its elected executives.

No phrases like "participatory democracy" or "creative disorder" can cloak the anarchic and thoroughly undemocratic nature of this approach to political life. These are fancy words glorifying instability and impermanence in a nation and a world that must constantly adjust to change without allowing themselves to be engulfed by it. They speak for the mercurial, for the shifting sand, at a time when hundreds of millions of people search for the rock and the anchor to tie to.

Raising a legitimate cry against the too-bigness of everything in today's America, these revolutionaries ask that power be turned back to them at the more intimate local level. But their prescription for this would so fragment power as to destroy its meaning for society.

They seek a life of license, not liberty. They want to be left altogether alone — free of real authority, uncured by law and, indeed, by any sort of code or standard in any field of life.

But they would not be free. For the chaos they would thus contrive is itself a "system," though different from the one they hate. They would thereafter suffer the painful tyranny of disorder, never knowing day to day who really made what decision or how long it might last. Waving the placard of "freedom's health," they would find society in near-fatal disrepair.

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old girl who spent $6 to hear the Monkees give a concert last night. It was one of the greatest experiences of my whole life. Something happened at the hall and I need to know if I was right or wrong.

My girl friend and I were screaming a lot which is only natural when the Monkees perform. A middle-aged woman about 30 was sitting in front of us. After the second number she turned around and said, "If you kids don't stop screaming in my ear I am going to scream in yours."

I told her in a polite voice that we came to scream and if she doesn't like screaming she should have stayed home and hemmed tea towels or something. She said I had a big mouth for a little girl and a few other things along that line.

Don't you think kids have a right to scream if they feel like it when the music is great? Will you please say something about older people who go to teen-age concerts and criticize kids for doing what is only natural? Thank you. —MONKEE LOVER

Dear Lover: If you screamed in church or at the ballet I would say the woman had a right to complain, but screaming at a Monkee concert is not only in order, it is practically compulsory.

I don't think it was necessary to bring in the tea towels, however. You were right about the screaming and she was wrong, but your sassiness weakened your position and strengthened hers.

Dear Ann Landers: I am sure there are some people who think you are evading the issue or looking for an easy way out when you say, "Get professional help," or "Go to a psychiatrist and talk it out of your system." I thought so, too, but now I know better.

I wrote to you a year ago about my horrible fear of spiders. I got so bad I couldn't eat without examining every bit of food. I was sure spiders were everywhere. At night I had to check every inch of bedclothes to make certain there were no spiders under the sheets or in the pillow slips.

To make matters worse, when I found an occasional spider on the window ledge I became so paralyzed with fear that I couldn't kill it. You told me to get professional help before I became afraid of everything that moved. I took your advice, Ann. And now, seven months later, I am a new woman. Thanks from the bottom of my heart. —HELPER AND HAPPY

Dear Helper: I'm happy, too. I've said it before and I'll say it again. Therapy has proven utterly useless to some people and it has opened a whole new world to others. I am delighted it worked for you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an old man now but I still have a very good memory. When I read

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25
— Born today, you are a patient, hardworking person who may have to wait a long time for success. Once that success does arrive, however, you will know well how to keep it, for you will have developed habits of determination, efficiency, and economy that will keep you in peak form for many, many years. You may have a tendency toward being discouraged during your young adulthood — but this, too, will only harden you and prepare you for the good life you should eventually have.

You have a great many talents, but it may take a long time for you to sort them out to such a degree that you can really see which one is worth being brought to fruition. As a young man or woman you will no doubt dabble in many things — music, art, writing, business, etc. — but ultimately you will find your niche and stick to it. When that decision is made, you will be on your way.

Emotionally, you are inclined to be somewhat restrained in that you do not easily give away your feelings. You feel things deeply enough, but you have a fear of being exposed through a display of emotion and so have gradually learned to make the cool appearance. Take care, however, not to carry this into the home; your family deserves to know you well.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Today In History
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, Sept. 25, the 288th day of 1967. There are 97 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1789, the first Congress of the United States, meeting in New York, adopted 12 amendments to the Constitution. Ten of these amendments became the Bill of Rights.

On this date:
In 1513, Balboa discovered the Pacific Ocean.

In 1775, Ethan Allen was captured in an attack on Montreal. In 1890, Congress established Yosemite National Park in California.

In 1940, the Quisling government was established in Norway. In 1941, the duke and duchess of Windsor were welcomed at the White House.

In 1942, nationwide gasoline rationing was ordered. Ten years ago — Under guard of 300 U.S. Army troops, nine Negro children were escorted into Central High School in Little Rock, Ark.

Five years ago — The three Western powers accused Russia of refusal to negotiate a reduction of tension and violence in Berlin.

One year ago — Two typhoons left more than 300 dead or missing in Japan and caused nearly five million dollars in damage to U.S. bases.

LYNDA J. JOHNSON OF PITTSFIELD, NAVYMAN ENGAGED
PITTSFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of Pittsfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynda Jean, to Richard E. Kindel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William (Bud) Kindel of Milton. No definite time has been set for the wedding.

Miss Johnson is a 1965 graduate of Pittsfield High School, and attended Gem City Business College in Quincy. Her fiancé graduated from East Pike High School at Milton and is a Gunner's Mate Third Class with the Navy.

PENSACOLA, Fla. (FHTNC) Navy Reserve Ensign Roger J. Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Mills of 955 So. Hoynes, Chicago, and husband of the former Miss Judith K. Hughes of 138 Sandusky, Jacksonville, was graduated from the Basic Naval Aviation Officers School at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

During the 16-week course he completed hours of classroom instruction in aviation technical fundamentals including navigation, aircraft communications, meteorology, air intelligence and Naval leadership.

He will now enter Flight preparation School at the Aviation School's Command at Pensacola to continue his training under the Naval Aviation Program.

Awarded Air Medal
FALMOUTH, Mass.—U.S. Air Force Captain Jon L. Geerlings, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Len W. Seaman of Rural Shellyville, has received the Air Medal at Otis AFB, Mass., for air action in Southeast Asia.

Captain Geerlings was decorated for his meritorious achievement as a C-121 Super Constellation pilot. He was cited for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions under hazardous conditions.

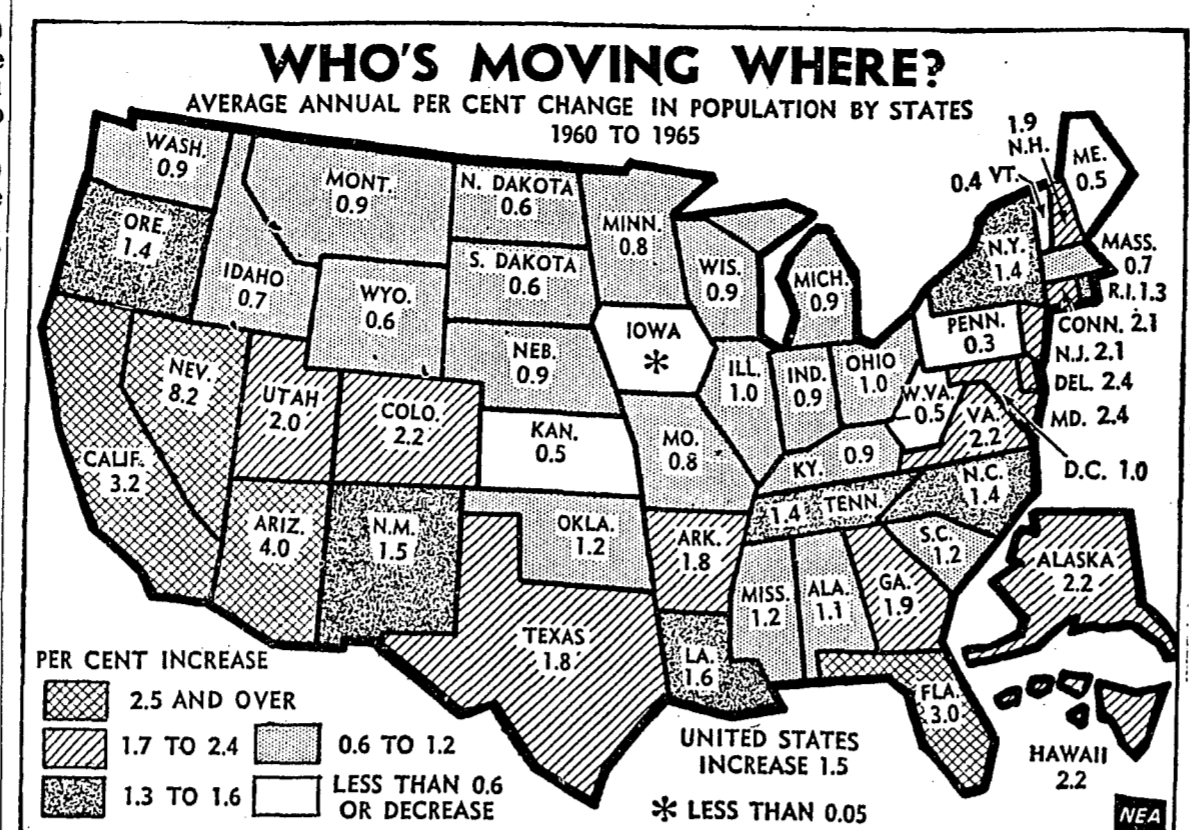

He is now at Otis with the Air Defense Command which provides aerospace defense against hostile aircraft and missiles.

The captain, a graduate of Shelbyville High School, received a B.A. degree in 1963 from Southern Illinois University and was commissioned there upon completion of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

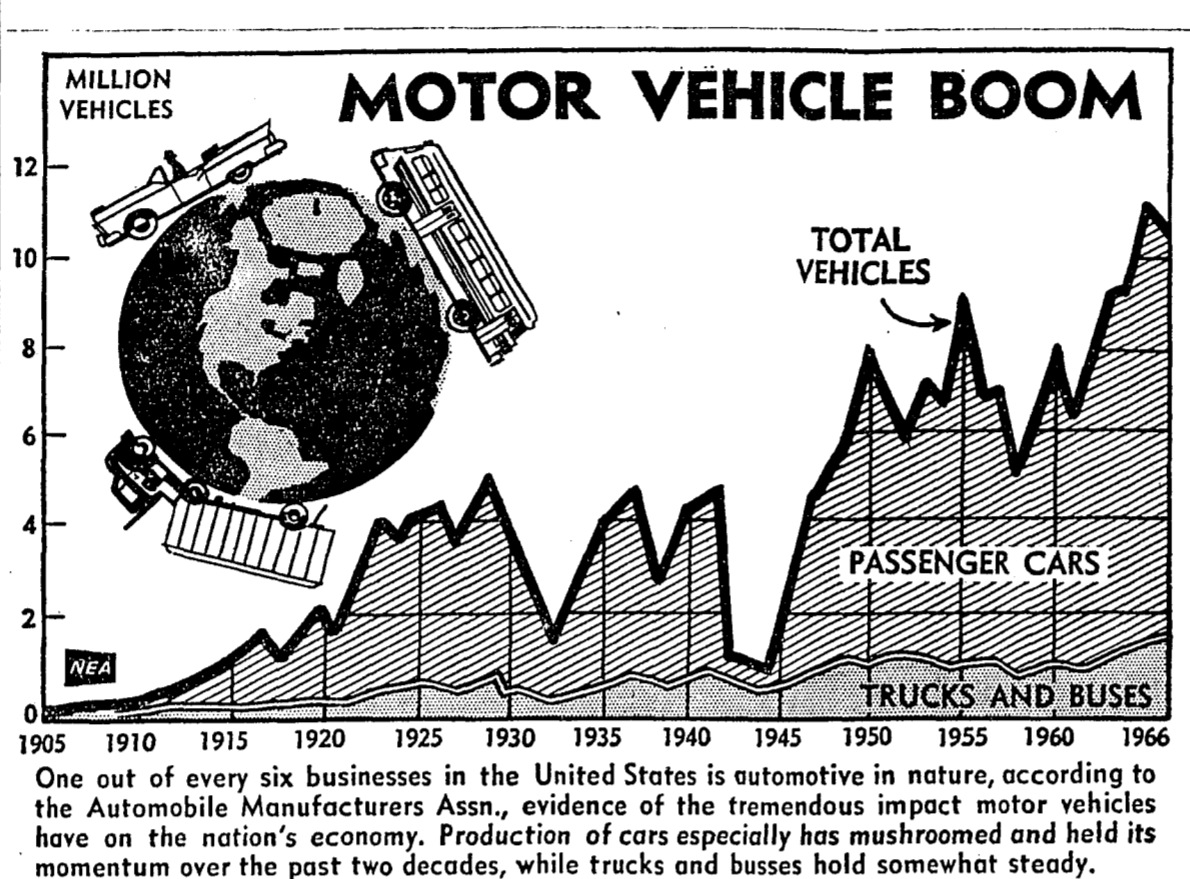

His wife, Lou, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmert Evans of rural Carrollton.

DA NANG, Vietnam (AHTNC) — Army Private First Class Terence R. Brasel, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brasel, of Beardstown, was assigned to the 37th Signal Battalion near Da Nang, Vietnam, Aug. 25.

PFC Brasel, a communications center specialist in the battalion, entered the Army in January 1966, completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and was last stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The West continues to be the fastest growing region in the United States, according to the latest Bureau of Census figures shown on the map above. Only Florida kept pace with the western states in population gains, and Iowa was alone in registering less than .05 per cent gain in the period 1960-65.

One out of every six businesses in the United States is automotive in nature, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Assn., evidence of the tremendous impact motor vehicles have on the nation's economy. Production of cars especially has mushroomed and held its momentum over the past two decades, while trucks and busses hold somewhat steady.

News Releases About Area Servicemen

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AHTNC) — James J. Howard, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Howard of White Hall, route two, was promoted to Army specialist four Aug. 22 while serving with Headquarters Company, U.S. Army, Vietnam near Long Binh.

A clerk typist in the company, Spec. Howard entered on active duty in November 1966 and was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco (Calif.) prior to his arrival in Vietnam last May.

Spec. Howard, whose wife, Patricia, lives at Carrollton, is a 1960 graduate of White Hall High School.

LONG GIAO, Vietnam (AHTNC) — Army Specialist Four Donald J. Halsey, 24, son of Mrs. Anna Halsey, Route 2, Pearl, Ill., was assigned to the 27th Engineer Battalion near Long Giao, Vietnam, Aug. 19.

Spec. Halsey, a combat engineer in the battalion's Company A, entered the Army in August 1966 and completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

He is a 1960 graduate of Pittsfield High School. His wife, Frances, lives in Kampsville.

SMYRNA, Tenn. — Lyndell R. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of R. R. 2, Pittsfield, Ill., has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Taylor is assigned to Sewart AFB, Tenn., as a member of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat reconnaissance, aerial firepower and assault airlift for U.S. Army forces.

A 1965 graduate of Pittsfield High School, he attended Middle Tennessee State University.

HARRISON, N.J. (AP) — The United States will need a trillion gallons of water a day by the year 2000, according to a recent study by the Worthington Corp. "By the year 2000," the study says, "the same water will be recirculated through the same factories several times before being passed on to the next customer. More and more rivers will reach the sea only after their waters have been re-used 10 times or more."

Jim: "We have devoted just about enough space to 'Bridge in the Menagerie.'"
Oswald: "How about one more hand showing how the Hideo Hog claims to use the fourth dimension in bringing home some of his absurd contracts?"
Jim: "You mean his version of the play called 'The Great Unblock' by the late Geoffrey Mott - Smith?"

Oswald: "Yes. The Hog is in three no-trump after typical bidding. He has six nice diamonds but his partner blocks the suit with the ace and king and the only way to unblock is to discard them on clubs. Of course the hand is a cinch with a spade opening but West opens the four of clubs and East rises with the king."

Jim: "Most players would take the king with the ace and lead back the jack. This would ensure three club tricks some time or other and hold the contract to a small loss but the Hog was not interested in a small loss. He played the jack of clubs without the slightest pause. East returned the three of clubs and this time the Hog played the ten. West won with the queen while the Hog discarded a low heart from dummy. West saw no reason to abandon the club suit and led a third club. The trap had been sprung. The Hog took his two club tricks while discarding the ace and king of diamonds from dummy. Six diamonds and a spade followed to give him game and rubber."

Oswald: "The important thing about the whole play was that it was executed so smoothly."

The Hog never paused to think at any time. He worked it all out as soon as he saw dummy. In addition the heart discard from dummy on the second club was a masterpiece of misdirection. At least it lulled West into enough sense of security so that he led the third club."

Jim: "At least, that's what the Hog said."

European Tour For Pike Co. Residents

PITTSFIELD — A European trip is being offered to members of the Abraham Lincoln Chapter of People to People. Mrs. Lyle Hayden of Pleasant Hill, president of the local chapter, announced that the three week trip is open to members in good standing of six months. Interested non-members may qualify by joining People to People no later than October 1. The trip is to Denmark and will be made sometime in April 1968. Three travel options are available. Arrangements can be made for home stays with Danish citizens for five days and four nights. After that the American travelers can plan their own itineraries, or they may join a conducted tour which will include six additional countries. The third option is for travelers who prefer to be "on their own."

Cost of the three-week tour is $180 covering round trip air transportation from New York City to Denmark. An additional cost of $475 covers the planned tour and includes transportation, lodging and meals. A $100 deposit will be required in October or November with the balance due in 45 days prior to the departure date.

Mrs. Hayden said that interested persons should notify her October 1 by letter or card, including name, address and phone number, and indicate preferred travel option.

The U.S. carpet industry retail sales amount to some $1.4 billion annually.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A glance at the prices of some commodities, which are the basic goods from which other goods are refined, processed or manufactured, could hardly convince you that inflation is threatening.

The wholesale prices of some of these items are much lower than they were a year ago. Coffee, corn, wheat, zinc, tin, rubber and hogs are among them. Even some steel prices were lower last month than a year earlier.

The same state of affairs exists also in some of the large commodity trading centers abroad. The price of copper, which is in great demand in this country because of a shortage, is among those lower at London. The implications of this trend are ominous for some underdeveloped nations, a few of whose economies exist on the income from selling their one major crop or product to the developed nations.

Domestically, some of these prices provide documentation of the farmer's complaint that he is not sharing to the same extent as his city cousin in the nation's expanding economy.

In August, for example, the price of No. 1 northern spring wheat at Minneapolis, Minn., was just a bit more than $1.63 a bushel. A year earlier it sold for more than $2.02 a bushel.

Corn could be purchased at Chicago for about $1.22 a bushel last month. But a year earlier the price was about $1.50. Colombian coffee sold for between 40 and 41 cents a pound at New York late last week. But in late September a year ago this commodity brought more than 45 cents a pound.

Some products, such as cocoa and sugar, are selling higher. But for each of these increases, a comparable decline can be found—the price of butter and eggs in some areas, for example. The question naturally arises as to why so many economists in government, academia and business are shouting that inflation is coming if we don't watch out. Why should prices for finished goods rise?

The most plausible explanation is that the increases will be somewhere in the processing, manufacturing, packaging, transporting and retailing of these products.

Each step in the development of a product adds value to it; the greater the value added the more cost might also be added to the product by the time it is marketed.

This curious situation of low prices for basic commodities and relatively high prices for the finished products is bound to create tension in the poorer nations, with some of it liable to explode in the face of developed nations.

But the industrialized nations have had their problems, too. It was the slowdown of some of these developed economies that helped produce the current problem. As they lessened their demand for many basic goods, surpluses piled up. And as these piles grew, prices shrank.

Synthetics also have played a role, especially in providing price-shrinking competition to products such as wool and natural rubber. This competition is hardly expected to diminish either.

The entire complex situation is a serious one, loaded with problems both domestic and foreign, pulsing with implications that are not just economic, but political and moral also.

The B52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take Communist pressure off Con Thien.

The eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts, unloading perhaps 12 million pounds of bombs.

Associated Press Correspondent Edwin Q. White, with the Marines at Con Thien, reported that Marine casualties from today's shelling, although not officially disclosed, were relatively light.

White said this apparently was because the barrage came in the early morning when the Marines were still in their muddy bunkers and foxholes and not moving about the three small hills that make up the Con Thien base.

Con Thien and another Marine outpost, Camp Carroll, were hit with about 125 rounds of artillery and rocket fire Sunday that left four Marines dead and 48 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

The Marines have suffered, by unofficial count, 61 dead and 785 wounded since Sept. 1 in shelling of the outposts. Most of the casualties have been taken at Con Thien. The Communists reportedly have about 100 artillery pieces aimed at the American positions.

While the artillery duels raged across the DMZ in what appears to be a war of attrition along the frontier, one significant ground action was reported elsewhere.

Elements of the U.S. Army's 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment clashed for nearly 10 hours Sunday with an estimated 150 Communist troops dug in fortified positions near coastal Tam Ky, 350 miles northeast of Saigon. The U.S. troops reported killing 45 enemy while suffering three dead and 13 wounded. Eight enemy weapons also were reported captured.

In the air war, monsoon rains limited strike missions over North Vietnam to a scant 74 Sunday, most of them radar bomb drops, thus preventing damage assessment. Navy pilots flying from three carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin were able to get in only one mission.

Meanwhile U.S. fliers said goodbye to Col. Robin Olds, the mustache World War II ace who led in kills of Communist MIGs in Vietnam. The 45-year-old Air Force veteran left Vietnam after four MIG kills to become commandant of cadets at the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

storm sewers which lead the Arroyo.

The Coast Guard said its helicopters evacuated 635 Mexicans surrounded by flood waters by dark Sunday.

The Department of Public Safety said Harlingen was in the most danger of the five Texas cities threatened by the rambling Arroyo Colorado.

The Arroyo carried a flood crest of 34.2 feet in 1958. After that flood the 300-foot wide steel and concrete dam was built near Mercedes to turn floodwaters into a man-made channel and away from the Arroyo and the cities bordering it.

The state highway patrol set up road blocks to keep refugees from returning to the Rio Grande valley. Most roads were either impassable or extremely difficult anyway.

Reports of heavy rains upstream Sunday afternoon in the Rio Grande watershed on both sides of the border kept officials doubtful about the amount of water that would finally roll down the border river.

Meanwhile, 150 miles north of here, new rains in the Nueces River watershed sent fresh flooding into the little town of Three Rivers, and people trying to start cleanup work were driven back to high ground. A record flood crest on the Nueces bore down on Corpus Christi today.

Throughout a 40,000-square-mile area in towns whipped by Beulah's winds, drenched by her rains, overrun by flooding streams and slashed by tornadoes, thousands remained in shelters—some of them short on food and water. But the water was receding in many places. Beulah's death toll stood at 44, 24 in her first sweep through the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula, 11 in Texas and nine in northern Mexico.

Meanwhile, Eban was to speak today in the U.N. General Assembly's general policy debate, opening public exchange with Arab foreign ministers over how to settle the Israeli-Arab war fought last June 5-10.

The Arab summit meeting in Khartoum Aug. 29-Sept. 1 agreed on united diplomatic efforts to achieve the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt, Jordan and Syria and on "no peace, no negotiation with Israel."

But a source in a position to know stressed Sunday that Israel's position was that any such withdrawal "should be consequent upon peace moves" worked out in direct Arab-Israeli negotiations. He said Eban had found "a large degree of understanding" from other foreign ministers to whom he had stated that position.

Percy

Percy has made it clear he will keep his name off the ballot in the nation's first primary in New Hampshire March 12. He may discourage his supporters there, but can't prevent them from launching a write-in campaign.

He says he is determined also to keep his name off the ballots in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon, where affidavits are required for such activities.

California law requires that Reagan enter a slate of delegates pledged to him in a June primary if he wants to be a favorite son. Percy, on the other hand, will have to depend on the willingness of unpledged delegates chosen in a primary to designate him as a favorite son and thus will not be the direct choice of Illinois voters.

U.S. Policy

Signers of the latest move in Congress, to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said: "This resolution arises, in my opinion, from deep-seated conviction that the Congress itself should deal at this time with questions of basic policy in regard to the Vietnam war. It provides the means through which the Congress can discharge responsibilities in foreign policy clearly placed upon it by the Constitution."

The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their findings to the two branches.

Findley, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he senses "a great uneasiness among members of Congress, many of whom voted for the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution."

That resolution was approved by Congress Aug. 7, 1964.

The resolution authorized "all necessary measures" the President might take "to repel any armed attack" against U.S. forces and "to prevent further aggression." It also approved in advance "all necessary steps including the use of armed force" which the President might take to help any nation that requested aid "in defense of its freedom" under the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty.

Findley said the congressional uneasiness arose in part because there was the absence of an official determination at the time that an armed attack had occurred against South Vietnam.

Reagan

Mervin D. Field's California poll indicated California voters are finding more fault with Reagan. Field's figures show 37 per cent thought Reagan was doing a good job as of this month, compared with 41 per cent in June. In both polls 33 per cent felt he was doing a fair job.

Those finding him doing a poor job jumped from 17 to 25 per cent.

Field said voters in the earlier poll were judging Reagan more on style and personality. It now appears, he said, that Reagan's handling of state problems has begun to affect his popularity.

Field said Reagan is being criticized chiefly for proposing cuts in the state health program, raising taxes, cutting mental health funds and proposing tuition and fee increases for the state university.

The Republican party's state policy-making body gave its blessing to Reagan as the state's favorite son candidate for president next June as the head of an 86-vote delegation in the state's presidential primary election.

As of now no opposition is in sight for the Reagan delegation, and none is expected since both moderate and conservative wings of the party endorsed Reagan as a favorite son.

Reagan insists he is not an outright candidate for president, but just wants to be a favorite son to unify the party in his home state.

Linda Hrnyak, 18, Hometown, was shot in the back Saturday night as she and three classmates walked near the campus. She was taken to Methodist Hospital where her condition was listed as fair.

Michael Carptenter, also 18, hometown unknown, was shot in the arm. He was treated at the hospital and released, as were Charles Chapin, Elizabeth, and Christine Flume, De Witt, N.Y., both 18. Chapin and Miss Flume reported being struck by objects thrown at them.

The students, all white, told police they were ordered off the sidewalk near Main and High streets by a gang of nine to 10 Negro youths.

They said they complied with the order but were attacked from the rear, with shots being fired and bottles and rocks being thrown.

There was no apparent motive for the attack, police said. It occurred about three quarters of a mile from the Bradley campus.

menace, non-Communist vessels going to Cuba would be denied fueling facilities in Latin American ports and would get no government-financed cargoes.

The United States itself has long applied this penalty. Under the new OAS recommendation, which is not mandatory, it is up to the other American republics to follow suit.

The idea is to put more teeth into appeals by OAS members—who have barred their own trade with Cuba—to other non-Communist nations to quit dealing with Castro so long as he pushes insurrection in the Americas.

Another point in the new resolution repeated the OAS appeal to "friendly states" to curb their commercial transactions and government credits in Cuban trade. But it was watered down with elimination of the blacklisting proviso.

CORN, BEANS SET LOWS FOR SEASON

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn and soybeans futures set seasonal lows in all contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday.

The decline in prices was attributed to general liquidation by all facets of the trade. Commercial interests were large sellers of corn and soybeans futures. There was some buying for export.

Harvesting of the corn and soybeans crops is barely getting under way in this country. Record production of both commodities has been forecast.

Wheat futures also declined under heavy liquidation, under some commercial and largely local selling. Oats and rye trade was light and both grains were irregular.

Soybeans and soybean meal reflected the weakness in soybeans and trended lower under aggressive selling.

Trade in choice steers was light and prices trended lower.

Wheat was 3/4 to 1 cent a bushel lower, December 1.55; corn 1 1/2 to 3/4 lower, December 1 1/4; oats were unchanged to 1/2 lower, December 69 1/2 cents; rye was 1/2 lower to 1/4 cent higher, December 1.22 1/2 and soybeans were 3/4 to 1 1/2 lower, November 2.64 1/2.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Official estimated livestock receipts for Tuesday are 1,500 cattle, 4,000 hogs and 50 sheep.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market maintained a strong advance in active trading late this afternoon.

But prices had fallen below their best levels of the day.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.99 to 941.34. At 2 p.m. it had been ahead more than 9 an hour earlier.

The margin of advances among individual stocks over declines shrank to 7 to 5 from 2 to 1.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts and oils advanced. Airlines, which had been generally ahead, turned mixed.

Gulf & Western Industries, up more than 2 points, appeared headed for the top of the day's most active list.

Teledyne jumped 7 points. Du Pont's early gain of about 5 withered to about 3.

General Motors advanced nearly 2 points. Boeing and United Aircraft gained nearly 3.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Here's Why a Family Didn't Move

By BETTY CANARY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
"Why is your favorite room in the house the foyer?" I asked Bob.

"It isn't and you don't need to tell me why you asked. You've found another quiz in the paper and it will prove I don't love you."

"It is, too. Right here it says in the paper that a nationwide psychological study proves the front hall and the kitchen are a man's favorite rooms in the house."

"Frankly, I'd like our hall a lot better if all those galoshes and balls weren't lying on the floor," he said.

"Listen," I said, "they say you like the foyer best because that is where you make your first impression on guests as a host and bon vivant!"

"I was being a bon vivant when I sprawled over Tad's wagon last night?"

I decided to ignore this. I read some more of the story about the survey called "The Motivations Toward Homes and Housing."

"Do you want to move?" I asked, rather slyly I thought.

"Move? We just moved here six months ago! All I want to do is drink my coffee and finish painting the walls in the den."

I cried, "I knew it. You don't love me!"

"But you wanted me to paint the den," he said.

I read the proof to him. "Here in black and white it says, 'As a wife grows older she tends to lose her sex appeal and therefore her bargaining power in convincing her husband that the family should move.'"

"O. K.," he said. "Let's move! I read the paper first this morning and it says there a man loves a apartment-dwelling because it is male-dominated."

"I love this house," I said. "It is close to the schools and the library and drugstore."

"But you have so much sex appeal I cannot resist you—I'll take the paint back."

"It says here men love the kitchen and the foyer—we have never had a kitchen this big!"

"But the newspaper report says women think of the kitchen as Siberia," he said. "I love you too much to put you in that big Siberia with your brand - new curtains."

"No," I said. "Once more I will do things your way. We are not going to move. This is the biggest front hall we have ever had also. I am resigned to my fate."

"Me, too," he said. "What bon vivant ever had a hall that was big enough to hold three bicycles, a wagon, everybody's galoshes and a television set?"

To avoid bringing roaches into your home, leave all potato and flour sacks outside your house for one day. Then thoroughly check and shake out.

Your Breakfast Starts Day Right

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Like the Old Gray Mare, today's breakfast isn't what it used to be. Rarely is it a group sit-down affair. The kitchen breakfast bar often replaces the dining room table; each member of the family eats as mood or schedule dictates.

Everyone is in a hurry. Even so, breakfast or its equivalent is important to health, alertness and stamina. It should provide at least a quarter of the day's food needs for men, women, children, teen - agers. No matter how active or inactive, every human being needs some protein, vitamins and minerals before starting off the day.

A cup of coffee and a donut do not constitute a good basic breakfast. But fruit, hot or cold cereal with milk, toast and milk for children does and it is inexpensive.

Packets of dry ingredients to be mixed with a glass of skim or whole milk have come on the market recently. According to package directions, they supply an adult with at least one-fourth of the minimum daily requirements of protein and vitamins and minerals. The selling point is the ease of serving a quick and "complete" breakfast to tardy school children, busy housewives, and commuters with no time for a "sit-down" breakfast.

If both father and mother work outside the home, breakfast often consists of only a cup of coffee or a glass of milk. But when the individual members arrive at their destination, either office or factory or school, they complete their breakfast with a coffee break from the food cart or at the school or factory cafeteria. If that "second breakfast" supplies some citrus, either fruit or juice, some protein such as whole or reconstituted cereals, egg, cheese or meat and milk for children, nutritional requirements can be maintained.

SCHUYLER SCHOOL BOARD SELLS 40 PASSENGER BUS

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Child's Head-Banging
May Be 'Protest Song'

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son at the age of 18 months had spells of banging his head against his crib so severely at times as to cause black-and-blue marks. This is a fairly common occurrence in children from six months to three years of age. When it occurs the parents should pad the crib to prevent injuries.

This mother was advised by well-meaning friends to spank him (bad advice), ignore the head-banging, or lavish more affection on the child. The latter she couldn't very well do as she was truly devoted to him and behaved accordingly. Because her son's head-banging didn't seem to make him any happier she took him to the pediatrician who examined the boy's ears and found that he had an acute middle ear infection.

Efforts to clear this up were unsuccessful until the boy's tonsils and adenoids, which were badly diseased, were removed, then presto—no more head-banging and a markedly improved disposition. Head-banging won't cure an earache but getting rid of the cause of the earache cured this child's head-banging.

Every child who bangs his head doesn't have an ear infection but it is just possible that he is trying to tell you something in terms of the only "protest song" he knows.

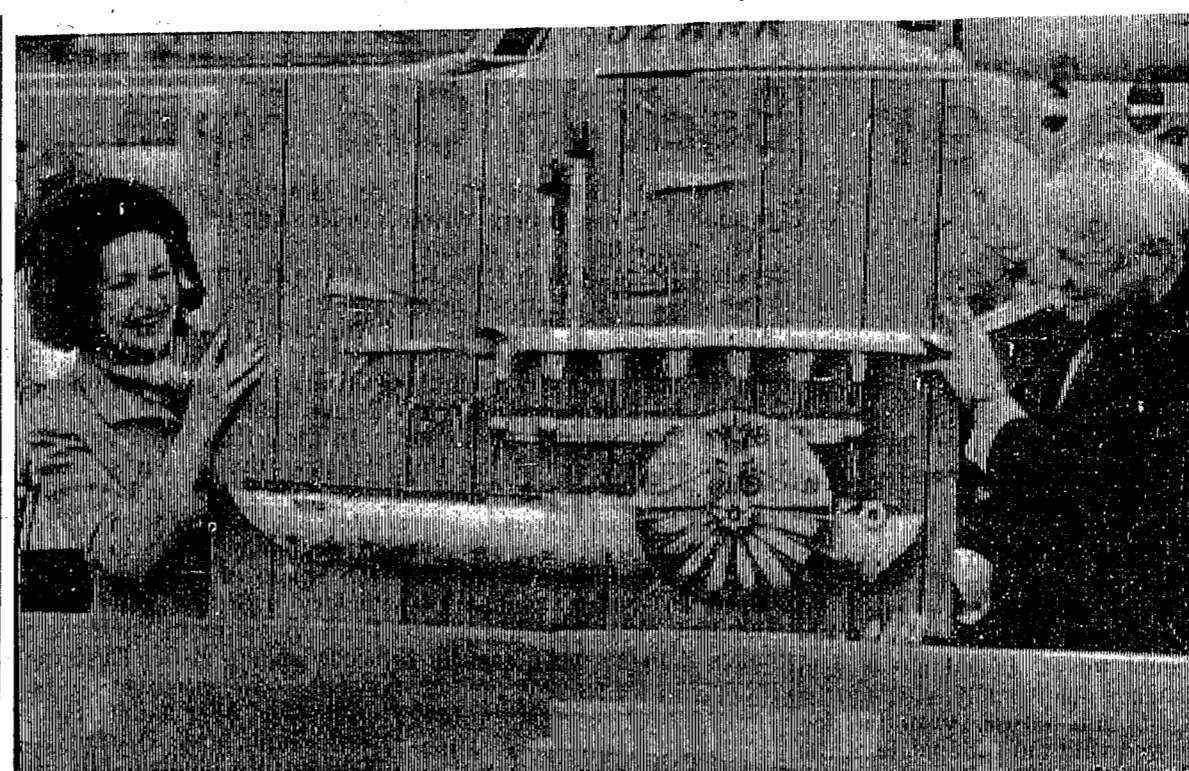

Q—My daughter, 3, drools all the time. I've been told that this is a sign of emphysema. How young a person could get this disease? Is it hereditary or contagious?

A—Although emphysema is seen most often in persons over 50 there is a form of the disease that may occur in children as a result of pneumonia, tuberculosis, asthma or cystic fibrosis. This disease is not contagious (but tuberculosis is) and is not hereditary (although asthma may be).

Drooling is not commonly associated with emphysema but is more likely to be caused by mercury poisoning, thyroid insufficiency or cerebral palsy.

Q—My son, 4, has a hydrocele. What causes it and what can be done for it?

A—This is an accumulation of fluid around the testicles due to a congenital defect. The swelling disappears spontaneously in most boys before they reach puberty. If it does not, an operation will correct it. If the hydrocele becomes unduly large—large enough to make walking awkward it should be corrected before puberty.

Sugar Water Solution Shapes Ruffled Doilies

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—This is for Carrie who wanted to know how to starch and iron ruffled doilies. I do not starch or iron mine. I use one part hot water and two parts sugar, boiled to make a syrup. Dip damp doilies (after washing) into this sugar water solution, squeeze out the excess and lay flat on a terry cloth towel. Shape ruffles around glasses or pop bottles, pressing tight. When dry, carefully remove glasses and the doilies will be stiff and in shape. —JACKIE

DEAR GIRLS—Carolyn also uses the cooked sugar water method for stiffening her doilies and then shapes her ruffles around hair rollers. She says it may sound hard to get the ruffles to stand up but it is not if fuzzy or rough-textured rollers are used. She also cautions that the center must be pressed flat (with the hands) on a table before starting on the ruffles. —POLLY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Sewing on bonded stretch fabrics is new to me, so I would like to know if the hem line will sag when this material is cut so that the stretch is vertical instead of horizontal. This is an expensive bonded Orlon fabric and I hate to ruin the suit but if I could cut it this way the design would make me look slimmer. I hope some of the readers who sew can answer this. —MRS. D. E. G.

DEAR POLLY—When we were getting ready to drive our daughter to college there seemed to be a whole car full of clothes on hangers and nothing to hang them on. Her father thought of our dog chain and put it across the back from the hook on one side to the one on the other. It worked perfectly, even better than the bars for that purpose, as the hangers fit into the chain loops and did not fall off. My husband was able to arrange the hangers so he could see out the back window with no fear of any of them sliding over. —MRS. B. B.

DEAR POLLY—I had to make doughnuts for a bake sale and did not have a doughnut cutter so I used a drinking glass and one of those little plastic pill bottles. They come in different sizes and make fine doughnut holes. —MARY

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The British are coming to aid that long-abused American minority, the Indian. At least that is the plan of Peter Watkins, a leading light of the school of angry young English film makers.

Watkins doesn't seem angry face-to-face. He is a pleasant, good-looking fellow—nearing 32 years of age. But his films have proved anything but pleasant, as the British Broadcasting Corp. learned.

The British television agency approved his plan for a film concerning the effects of nuclear war. But when Watkins presented the finished product, which he called the "War Game," the shock reverberated through the English establishment.

"After consultation with the Home Office, the BBC decided the film was too brutal to show on television—or anywhere else," said Watkins with a trace of bitterness. "Apparently it's all right to make a film about nuclear warfare, but only if you get a laugh at the end." For instance, "Dr. Strangelove."

Hollywood's Motion Picture Academy was not as touchy, and Watkins won an Oscar with the "War Game" as best documentary of 1965. Now Universal is releasing his "Privilege," a savage tale of what happens when a singing idol confuses himself with deity. The director has been amused by the reaction of the critics, who have called it everything from a masterpiece to an atrocity. Watkins is apt to draw as much controversy on his next project, which will be a western. Not the John Ford kind of western, mind you.

"I want to make a film that will take the glamor off the subject of the frontier wars," he explained. "I don't think western films have ever shown that period from the viewpoint of the Indian. Not that I intend to put the frontier Army men in a bad light; they were merely carrying out orders. It is those who made the policy that should be criticized." Watkins already has picked out the locale for his film, so far untitled.

Just A Day In The Life Of Bunch Of Born Losers

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it's enough to make you antinuclear. Because, after all, if the United Federation of Teachers doesn't call this strike against the New York school system, it never happens.

No strike, and Public School No. 44 will be open. If No. 44 is open, Jeffrey, aged 11, will be in class instead of putting his trousers on at 10 a.m. And if Jeffrey is not putting his trousers on at 10 a.m., what occurs does not occur.

First word of what has taken place comes in the form of a telephone call to the office from Jeffrey's brother, Nick, aged 10. "Daddy," says Nick, "Jeffrey is in trouble. He was putting his pants on and, you know, something happened which is a man problem. That's why we didn't call Mommy at the university."

"It involves the zipper?"
"Yes, Daddy. We've tried everything but it's no good. Jeffrey is being very brave, but"

"Hold everything. Daddy will be home cabwise forthwith."

The cab delivers Daddy at the apartment house in Manhattan and it is quickly evident that this is a contretemps which will require professional assistance.

So a telephone call is made to the family doctor.

"Oh, my goodness," says the family doctor. "Bring the poor little fellow over immediately."

After a somewhat tiresome interlude a cab is captured and the trip is made to the doctor's lair on Central Park West.

"Hmm," says the doctor.

"You don't particularly care what happens to the pants?"

"No, doctor. The important thing is to release the captive."

"Very well. Now, you take the right-hand side of the zipper and I'll take the left and—there we go! All right, Jeffrey?"

"Yes, doctor, and thank you," says Jeffrey, being brave.

Jeffrey, Nick and Daddy then repair back to the apartment building in a cab and another day in the life of a bunch of born losers is history.

We do not know how much money the United Federation of Teachers may have, but we sincerely hope it is plenty. Because we are going to sue them for every dime they own, unless we cool off quite a few degrees in the near future.

Either we're charging too little, or everyone else is charging too much.

Rambler American. The only U.S. car that could stop you from buying an import.

At a price very close to the leading import, the American seats six people instead of four.

It gives you nearly twice as much room in the trunk and more than twice as much engine under the hood.

Like the imports, the American doesn't change its style every year, gets about 20 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

Unlike some imports, it never gives you the feeling that you're driving a toy.

Rebel. America's most underrated car.

The Rebel 550 Hardtop is the lowest priced intermediate sized hardtop in America.¹

It looks sporty, drives sporty and still gives you all the things that most people buy a car for.

The Rebel—Hardtop, Wagon, Sedan or Convertible, V8 or 6—is everything we think a car should be.

Before you pay more for an intermediate, make sure you get as much.

Ambassador. The car with air conditioning as standard equipment.

Air conditioning has been around for a long time, but so far only a few companies—the people who make

Rolls Royce for one—have had the good sense to include it in their cars at no extra cost.

We're another.

We just don't understand why someone should be asked to pay a lot of money for a luxury car and then be asked to pay over $300 more for the luxury of air conditioning.

Introducing the Javelin.

Although we've always had the reputation for making sensibly priced, well-built cars, we've never had the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

We'll soon have the reputation for making hot, sporty cars. The front and rear bumpers on the Javelin are massive. Unlike thin blade bumpers, these give the car a rich, racy look.

The side windows on the Javelin are solid sheets of curved glass, without vents to break up its fast lines.

The Javelin SST comes with wheel discs, special exterior trim, reclining bucket seats and a woodgrain steering wheel, all standard.

And all for a lower price than the other sporty hardtops.¹

Only Tigers Falter In AL Flag Chase

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's unromantic Senators have shown Detroit to the door and now Tiger Manager Mayo Smith must figure out a way to keep his foot in it.

Paul Casanova and Fred Valentine were the chief cads in this tale of a broken affair and although Dan Cupid might not approve, Gil Hodges certainly did.

Casanova and Valentine delivered key singles in a three-run Washington ninth that gave the Senators a 5-4 victory over Detroit Sunday. The loss shoved the Tigers into fourth place, 1½ games behind as the torrid American League pennant race moved into its final week.

Minnesota retained its one-half game lead, beating New York 9-4 for Dean Chance's 20th victory. Boston stayed right behind the Twins by walloping Baltimore 11-4 with an 18-hit attack. Third place Chicago used four pitchers to stop Cleveland 3-1 and stayed one game behind. In another game, California edged Kansas City 2-1.

The Tigers carried a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against Washington and were looking forward to their third straight victory over the cooperative Senators.

But Mike Epstein and Frank Coggins opened with singles. After Ken McMullen bunted into a force out, Casanova singled one run across. The affectionate Senators were getting too cozy for Smith. He brought in reliever John Hiller who retired Cap Peterson on a line drive for the second out.

Hiller got the first two strikes over to Doug Camilli, who had driven in only four runs all year. But Camilli worked the count to 3-2, fouled off several pitches and finally singled the tying run across. Valentine followed with the fifth single of the inning, scoring Casanova with the winner.

End of game and end of romance.

Roar At Minnesota

A giant roar went up at Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota when the Detroit score was posted. The Twins, despite a somewhat shoddy performance by Chance, were coasting past the Yankees and protecting their lead.

Bob Allison walloped a three-run first inning home run and Harmon Killebrew tagged his 41st of the season, making it easy for Chance, who allowed 12 hits.

Detroit's trouble in Washington was greeted serenely by the Red Sox when it was posted at Baltimore. "We knew about it already," smiled Carl Yastrzemski. "My brother was sitting next to the dugout with a radio and he told us 10 minutes before it was up on the scoreboard."

Boston tore into the Orioles with Dalton Jones, George Scott and Jerry Adair smashing four hits apiece. Jones drove in five runs, giving him nine in the last week and 25 for the season.

Lonborg Wins

Jim Lonborg allowed just two hits in the six innings he pitched and won his 21st game. He is expected to start two of Boston's four remaining games.

Don McMahon pitched five innings of perfect relief and then Gary Peters and Bobby Locker bailed him out of an eighth inning jam as the White Sox topped the Indians.

Chicago was leading 3-0 in the third when Cisco Carlos gave up a single and a walk. Eddie Sanky called for McMahon, who retired 14 straight batters until the eighth. Then consecutive doubles by Richie Scheinblum and Joe Azcue knocked him out.

Peters came on to get pinch hitter Tony Horton and then Locker retired the last two batters without further damage. The Indians put two men on in the ninth but Locker fed Fred Whitfield a double play ball to end the game.

Bob Rodgers singled home two runs in the first inning and California made them stand up for its victory over Kansas City.

Jaster Regains Form In Relief

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Jaster, who was caught in the shuffle when St. Louis restacked its pitching deck, has been working just as hard since he went on relief.

Jaster, a 1966 flash who lost his starting job when ace right-hander Bob Gibson recovered from a broken leg three weeks ago, pitched two scoreless innings in relief Sunday and struggled to a 5-4 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

It was the first victory in five relief appearances for Jaster, a strapping southpaw who shared the National League shutout lead a year ago.

While the runaway pennant winners were shading Atlanta in their final home game before the World Series, Pittsburgh edged second place San Francisco 2-1; Cincinnati topped the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings; Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 3-1 and Houston trimmed the New York Mets 4-2.

Minnesota held first place in the torrid American League race with a 9-4 triumph over the New York Yankees; Boston drubbed Baltimore 11-7; the Chicago White Sox downed Cleveland 3-1; Washington upended Detroit 5-4 and California shaded Kansas City 2-1.

Maxvill Starts

Dal Maxvill opened the bottom of the ninth with a single and scored the winning run from first base when Atlanta reliever Cecil Upshaw fielded Alex Johnson's bunt and heaved the ball into right field.

The victory gave Jaster a 9-7 season record, compared to an 11-5 mark last year that included ed five shutouts — all against Los Angeles.

Steve Blass checked the Giants on four hits but needed ninth inning help from Woody Fryman in halting San Francisco's four-game winning string. Fryman wild-pitched one run home before stranding the tying run on third to preserve Blass' sixth victory against eight setbacks.

Jerry Mays' double and Maury Wills' RBI single in the seventh gave the Pirates a 1-0 edge against Gaylord Perry and Maty Alou's ninth inning single delivered the deciding run against reliever Frank Linzy. The loss ended a five-game winning streak for Perry, who allowed only four hits in eight innings.

Reds Pass Cubs

A walk, Lee May's single and Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly in the 10th lifted the Reds past Chicago and sent them into third place — one-half game ahead of the Cubs.

Relief specialist Ted Abernathy, who limited the Cubs to one hit over the last two innings, picked up his sixth victory against three defeats.

Rick Wise tossed a three-hitter in Philadelphia's victory over the Dodgers. The young right-hander did not yield a hit until the sixth, when doubles by Jeff Torborg and pinch hitter Al Ferrara ended his shutout bid.

Cookie Rojas slammed a first inning homer for the Phils and Tony Gonzalez and Darrell Sutherland each contributed run-scoring singles.

Julio Gotay's two-run homer made the difference as the Astros subdued New York behind left-hander Chris Zachary. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets.

Palmer Cops Thunderbird With A 283

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP)—"Who am I tied with now?" Arnold Palmer kept asking as he hung around the clubhouse Sunday awaiting a possible sudden-death playoff in the $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

After first Gary Player and then Billy Casper bogeyed themselves out of contention, and after Charles Coody, Art Wall Jr. and Jack Nicklaus missed birdied putts on the last hole, the answer finally came: no one.

"Waiting in the locker room is tougher than coming from five strokes back," Palmer admitted after doing just that with a 3-under-par 69 and a four-day score of 283. "I don't mind playing but I don't like the waiting so much."

A 10-foot birdie putt on the 500-yard, par-5 finishing hole gave the 38-year-old Palmer a one-stroke victory over Coody, Wall and Nicklaus. Another shot back were Casper, Julius Boros, South Africa's Harold Henning and Bert Weaver.

Bill Collins, the towering club pro from Purchase, N.Y., who had the lead or a share of it after each of the first three rounds, soared to an 80 with a round that included three birdies but five bogeys and three double bogeys. He finished six strokes back in a tie for 14th place.

Surprisingly, the $30,000 check was the largest ever for Palmer. It pushed him ahead of Nicklaus in the 1967 earnings race with $182,393.96, more than any golfer has pocketed in one season, and upped his record career earnings to $936,844.11.

The victory was Palmer's second in the 6-year-old Thunderbird, his 51st on the official PGA tour and fourth this year.

Palmer needed only 29 putts for the tour over the chilly and windy 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Palmer began the final round tied for 11th, five strokes behind Collins, who quit the tour for a teaching job three seasons ago.

Quarterbacks Lead Big Ten Teams To Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Melzer of Northwestern, Ed Podolak of Iowa, Harry Gosso of Indiana, Phil Hagen of Minnesota, Mike Phipps of Purdue and Dick Vidmer of Michigan.

They are all quarterbacks who guided their teams to victories Saturday in the beginning of what could be the year of the quarterback in the Big Ten.

Melzer scored both Northwestern touchdowns in a 12-7 victory over Miami of Florida including a trick play in which he took a scoring pass from half-back Chico Kurzwaski for the winning score.

Podolak scored one touchdown and passed for another in Iowa's 24-9 triumph over favored Texas Christian. The junior quarterback gained 96 yards rushing and 91 passing.

Gosso, a sophomore, rallied Indiana from a 10-point deficit to a 12-10 victory over Kentucky. Gosso completed 17 passes — including two for touchdowns — for 121 yards and picked up 115 more rushing.

Hagen, a third string sophomore, came off the bench in the final quarter and engineered an 88-yard touchdown drive in the closing minutes to give Minnesota a 13-12 triumph over Utah. The winning score came with a little more than a minute left on a 28-yard touchdown pass from Hagen to Chip Litten.

Successor To Griese

Phipps, the sophomore successor to Bob Griese, directed Purdue to a 24-20 triumph over Southern Methodist. Phipps connected on 17 of 35 passes for 269 yards including a 35-yard touchdown bomb to Bob Baitzell.

Vidmer completed 13 of 27 passes in Michigan's 10-7 decision over Duke. Vidmer's 23-yard strike to Ron Johnson set up a 17-yard field goal by Frank Titas with 17 seconds to play.

The six victories got the Big Ten off to an excellent start against intersectional foes although Michigan State, Illinois and Wisconsin went down in defeat.

Houston shocked second-ranked Michigan State 37-7 while Illinois fell at Florida 14-

Nance, Patriots Back In Old Form

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Nance has had a better day, but Boston Coach Mike Holovak says his Patriots never have.

Nance piled up an awesome total of 185 yards in 34 carries Sunday, leading Boston to a surprising 23-0 victory over Buffalo, the first shutout the Bills have suffered in 137 American Football League games.

Nance's best day? The league's 1966 Player of the Year gained 208 yards against Oakland last year. But his performance Sunday was enough to get him the game ball and to get Holovak thinking in terms of superlatives.

"It was our best game," the Boston pilot said succinctly. "We didn't have any interceptions or fumbles, and the Bills still are the toughest club in the league defensively."

In their first three games, all defeats, the Patriots fumbled five times and had 11 passes intercepted. Now their thoughts are rambling back to last season when, after a bad start, a victory over the Bills sparked them to six more triumphs and second place in the Eastern Division.

In other AFL games Sunday, New York beat Denver 38-24, Kansas City blanked Miami 24-0 and San Diego upended Houston 13-3.

Joe Namath had a marvelous day for the Jets, completing 22 of 37 passes for 399 yards and two touchdowns. Emerson Boozer ran for three touchdowns. Also impressive about Namath's performance was the fact that in the second period the Broncos had a 24-7 lead.

Mike Garrett gained 133 yards in 20 carries for the Chiefs and caught a 34-yard scoring toss from Len Dawson. Otis Taylor caught a Dawson pass for a 57-yard scoring play.

Dick Van Raaphorst kicked a pair of field goals and Lance Alworth made a leaping catch of a pass from John Hadl for a 44-yard touchdown for the Chargers. Alworth caught 10 passes altogether, good for 121 yards.

Pack Again Off But Wins 13-10

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Generosity goes only so far with the Green Bay Packers. They gave Chicago five interceptions and three fumbles Sunday, but somehow saved the victory for themselves.

The defending world champions, incredibly erratic for a second straight Sunday, wobbled to a 13-10 win, their first of the National Football League season, on a 46-yard Don Chandler field goal in the final 63 seconds.

"We're having a hell of a time," admitted the Packers' perfectionist coach, Vince Lombardi, after his team played as it had in a 17-17 tie with Detroit on opening day.

Quarterback Bart Starr, who threw four interceptions against the Lions, went one better against the Bears. Jim Grabowski, while setting a Packers record with 32 carries for 111 yards, chipped in with three fumbles.

"I hope all these errors will come in a lump and we're over it," said Starr. The league's Most Valuable Player threw only three interceptions all last season. He owns the NFL record for consecutive passes—294—without an interception.

"You'll have to ask Vince about that," said Chicago Coach George Halas, when asked to comment on Starr's play.

"Starr doesn't throw for interceptions," said Lombardi. "He isn't going to change in a year. One of these days these things are going to stop and this is going to be a great team."

The errors might have been fatal against a team with a normal offense, but the troubled Bears were able to muster only six first downs, 18 less than Green Bay's total. Chicago was outgained 365 yards to 159.

Despite themselves, the Bears seemed headed for a tie after Gale Sayers ripped around left end for 13 yards and a touchdown with 3½ minutes remaining in the game.

But the Packers with a second straight Sunday stalemate, bounced back with Starr putting them in position for Chandler's field goal with a 15-yard pass to Elijah Pitts.

The field goal was Chandler's second of the game and his third in three tries this season.

Last season Chandler succeeded on only 12 of 28 attempts.

The Packers' only touchdown came out of a kicking situation. The second period score was triggered by a 40-yard dash by Donny Anderson out of punt formation.

ATLANTA CLASSIC

THIS WEEK'S PRIZE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Golf's touring pros, trekking into Indiana summer, shoot for a top prize of $22,000 this week in the $115,000 Atlanta Golf Classic, the first major tournament in Georgia's capital city in nine years.

The Professional Golfers Association event starts Thursday at the new Atlanta Country Club course, which stretches 7,200 yards under towering oaks and pines and over several pesky water hazards, including a waterfall on the par-three 135-yard 13th.

Most of the big-name golfers, with the exception of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, are among the more than 200 players entered in the tournament, which will be trimmed to 150 after a qualifying round today. Palmer and Nicklaus have commitments in Japan.

0 and Wisconsin bowed meekly to Washington 17-0.

With Ohio State making its season debut against Arizona, all Big Ten teams will be in action Saturday with the spotlight on the Notre Dame at Purdue game. The Irish, ranked No. 1 nationally, bombed California 41-3 in their opener.

In other games, Pitt is at Illinois, Kansas at Indiana, Oregon State at Iowa, Southern Cal at Michigan State, Missouri at Northwestern, Arizona State at Wisconsin, Michigan at California and Minnesota at Nebraska.

Bakken Sets NFL Field Goal Mark

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bakken was looking so hard for the end—a National Football League field goal record—he almost lost sight of the means—the ball.

The football-style kicker set a record of seven field goals Sunday in nine attempts, also a record. His kicking also carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 28-14 upset of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I knew about the record, and it almost cost me," Bakken said. "When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

It just made it 23 yards and broke the mark of six set last season by soccer-style kicker Garo Yepremian of Detroit.

Don Chandler, another conventional-style kicker, didn't set any records, but he did save Green Bay from defeat for the second straight week.

Chandler, who booted an 18-yarder with 1:43 left to gain Green Bay a 17-17 tie with Detroit in their season opener, kicked a 46-yarder with just 63 seconds remaining Sunday, giving the mistake-prone Packers a 13-10 victory over the underdog Chicago Bears.

Unitas Boasts Mark

In other NFL games, Johnny Unitas boosted his career passing yardage past the 30,000—mark as Baltimore clobbered Philadelphia 38-6, Washington drubbed New Orleans 30-10, Dallas clipped the New York Giants 38-24, Detroit topped Cleveland 31-14 and San Francisco trounced Atlanta 38-7. Los Angeles outclassed Minnesota 39-3 Friday night.

San Diego blanked Buffalo 23-0. Kansas City whipped Miami 24-0, San Diego outlasted Houston 13-3 and the New York Jets scrambled past Denver 38-24 in the American Football League.

The Cardinals, who stymied Pittsburgh with three interceptions and a fumble recovery which they converted into 16 points, scored their only touchdown on quarterback Jim Hart's 23-yard run in the first quarter.

Although Green Bay never could get rolling—Chicago intercepted five Bart Starr passes and recovered three fumbles—the Packers led 10-0 at halftime on the strength of Jim Grabowski's two-yard touchdown run and Chadler's 20-yard field goal.

Chicago got a 22-yard three-pointer from Mac Percival in the third quarter and tied it on Gale Sayers' 13-yard TD dash just minutes before Chandler's winning kick.

Unitas passed 10 and 31 yards to flanker Willie Richards and Tony Loric scored on a pair of three-yard runs in Baltimore's romp. Sam Baker kicked two field goals for Philadelphia's points.

McDonald Too Much

The running of Washington rookie fullback Ray McDonald proved too much for New Orleans. McDonald scored on runs of one, 36 and 15 yards and gained 98 yards in 15 carries. New Orleans got a touchdown on a 36-yard pass from Bill Kilmer to Walter Roberts for a brief 10-6 lead in the second quarter.

Don Meredith sparked the Dallas victory, hitting on 17 of 26 passes for 243 yards and four touchdowns. Bob Hayes caught two of the scoring strikes, covering 43 and 20 yards. Fran Tarkenton passed 52 yards to Homer Jones for one Giant TD, and Jones ran 46 yards on a reverse for another.

Milt Plum threw a TD pass and Tom Watkins rushed for two scores in Detroit's triumph over Cleveland. One Cleveland TD came on a Frank Ryan pass.

San Francisco scored on a march from the opening kickoff and the rout was on. John Brodie passed for two 49er touchdowns, and Gary Lewis ran for two more.

Bakken One Up On His Grid Heroes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—As a youngster in Madison, Wis., Jim Bakken read and dreamed of professional football's great placekickers like Lou Groza, Ben Agajanian and Bert Rechichar.

"They were my idols," Bakken said. "As far back as I can remember I always liked to kick."

Bakken said he longed for the time when he might match his heroes', feats.

Sunday he surpassed them, kicking a record seven field goals to lead the St. Louis Cardinals over the Pittsburgh Steelers 28-14. His kicks ranged from 18 to 33 yards.

Modestly accepting congratulations, Bakken still bemoaned the two kicks that got away on his record day.

"I probably should have had eight and maybe with a little luck nine but I don't want to be greedy," he said. "I'm just glad to have the record."

Bakken, who has led the Cardinals in scoring each of his four seasons and is their top all-time scorer, set the mark the hard way—kicking five of his three-pointers into the 14-mile-an-hour winds buffeting Pittsburgh.

Substitute Holder

An he had to make the last three with a substitute holder, Bobby Joe Conrad, after regular holder Larry Wilson cut his hand early in the second half.

Bakken said he thought the wind was a factor in a 45-yarder he missed but added that he just "blew" a 50-yarder with the wind. His nine attempts also were an NFL record.

The blond kicker, who has had field goals in 13 straight games — one short of still another league mark — said that center Bob Demarco and the holders deserved equal credit for his achievements.

"I don't think you can make any distinction between the holder, the kicker and the center," he said. "If any one of them doesn't do his job, the kick won't be any good."

Bakken said he knew he was shooting for a record, and admitted it may have bothered him.

"I knew about the record and it almost cost me," he said. "When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

Gary Yepremian, Detroit's soccer-style kicker from Cyprus, held the old mark of six field goals in a game, set last year.

College Football In Early Shakeup

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a decided new look to the young college football season today—Michigan State trampled Alabama tied by a three-touchdown underdog and the West Coast powers suddenly in a position to challenge mighty Notre Dame for No. 1.

And, too, there's upstart Houston, suddenly thrust into the spotlight on the strength of a fantastic 37-7 rout of Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State crew, ranked third nationally going into the game and all-winning in 1966.

"It's been a long time since we've taken our lumps like that," a subdued Daugherty said after the stunning reversal of form in Michigan State's opener. "But I've seen sicker cats get well."

But Alabama's Bear Bryant couldn't be even that optimistic after his second-ranked Crimson Tide was tied 37-37 by surprising Florida State in their opener.

"This is the weakest defensive team I've ever put on the field," he said. "Everything about the defense was poor. They've forgotten what it takes to play defense."

Of the top three, only Notre Dame won, an easy, 41-3 opening triumph over California.

Coach Ara Parseghian had words of praise for quarterback Terry Hanratty—"He ran the ball club well, he hit his targets and he ran with the ball well"—but otherwise wasn't very pleased.

"We dropped far too many passes. Our defensive line is green yet. We have lots of work to do."

West Coast powers Southern California and UCLA turned in impressive victories, the second straight for each. No. 4 Southern Cal, operating behind quarterback Steve Sogge, held off fifth-ranked Texas 17-13, and sixth-ranked UCLA, with Gary Beban and Greg Jones again starring, crushed Pittsburgh 40-8.

No. 7 Georgia opened with a 30-0 shutout of Mississippi State and No. 9 Colorado edged Oregon State 17-13, but eight-ranked Miami, Fla., was upset by Northwestern 12-7.

Some other major upsets included Memphis State's 27-17 decision over Mississippi, Oklahoma State's 7-6 verdict over Arkansas and Navy's 23-22 thriller over Penn State.

Augustana Opens Title Defense

Augustana's powerful Vikings open defense of their College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin football championship this week.

The Vikings, dropping a 24-23 decision to Augustana of South Dakota, were one of four conference teams which suffered setbacks last Saturday.

Wesleyan, Millikin and Carthage all lost while North Park and North Central were victorious to give the CCIW a 7-6 record against outside foes.

Wesleyan got whacked 27-7 by Illinois State, Millikin was humiliated, 70-0, by Martin Tennessee and Carthage was blanked 20-0 by Wheaton.

North Park edged Concordia 21-20 and North Central outscored Elmhurst 38-33.

Augustana opens its title bid at Wesleyan Saturday night while Carthage journeys to North Central and Millikin invades North Park.

Carroll, idle last week, takes on winless Elmhurst in a non-conference tilt.

Illinois State's triumph over Wesleyan was the highlight of representatives in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Central Michigan defeated Youngstown 16-2 Friday night but Eastern Illinois was slugged 30-6 by Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Western Illinois was idle.

REFUSES TO BE LED ASTRAY

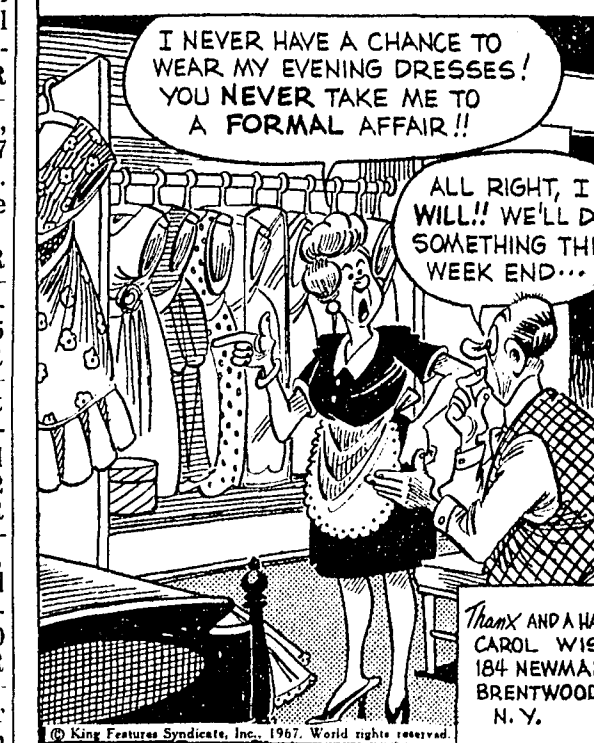

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—A Joplin bartender swears that a man walked in, ordered a beer, then immediately ordered another. When the bartender reminded the man that he hadn't touched the first drink, the customer explained that he had been at an AA meeting the night before and had been told to "be-ware of the first drink."

A few minor recessions have scored some setbacks but, for the most part, more people have steadily been earning more money in the past 17 years. Since 1950, family incomes have doubled, according to latest Bureau of Census figures. Rises in consumer prices have absorbed some of this increase, but there has been a substantial increase in real purchasing power. Percentage of families in higher-income brackets has crept upward. For example, 7 per cent had incomes over $10,000 in 1949, rising to 15 per cent in 1959 and 22 per cent in 1964. Conversely, the same ratio of gain showed in incomes below $5,000.

The United States is believed to have roughly a three-to-one edge over the Soviet Union in intercontinental missiles at present. The U.S. arsenal breaks down to 1,000 land-based Minuteman, 656 submarine-launched Polaris and 54 Titan-2 missiles. The Soviet total is estimated to include 580 land-based and 130 submarine-launched missiles, too many to be blocked by the "thin" antimissile system proposed by Defense Secretary McNamara. The system actually is directed at Communist China, expected by 1971-2 to have a small arsenal of intercontinental missiles with nuclear warheads.

West Berlin Swings In Western Fashion

By HUBERT J. ERB
BERLIN (AP)—Despite the privations of its Communist-isolated position, the Berlin Wall and its on again off again role as a cold war focal point, West Berlin has charm, bustle and what the Germans call glanz—glamor.

The chic, swank and broad Kurfuertendamm is a promenade perhaps second to none in Europe for its sidewalk cafes, restaurants, elegant shops and strutting, long-legged, miniskirted girls.

The miniskirt and pants suits are currently in with the city's bienen, or bees as the girls are called, and they are sure to follow the fashion whichever way it goes. Twice a year, West Germany's fashion houses preview new lines here and it helps make West Berlin's women style conscious. The showings have aroused the interest of even the Russians who have made wholesale purchases.

Then there is night life. The trend is away from big production number night clubs such as in New York or Paris, with emphasis more on smaller and more intimate spots, with innovations. There is a place show business performers: Sir Lawrence Olivier playing "Othello," Mia Farrow Sinatra, smoking cigars between movie takes, and a stream of U.S. jazz names, from Ella Fitzgerald to Duke Ellington.

Beat bands, too, get a big play with the local long-haired kids. When Britain's Rolling Stones appeared, the youngsters got carried away and tore apart a 20,000-seat outdoor stadium.

A summer ago, a big attraction along the Ku-damm were sidewalk artists who drew with chalk on the pavement. They are mostly gone now, replaced by West Berlin's own version of the hippie cult, far and away a more politically-engaged type than is usual.

The local kind might be called hippies with a vengeance, since they have been in the middle of or at least present at most politically inspired demonstrations, some of which have been violent.

But despite all that is offered, perhaps the favorite activities of the city's average burghers out on the town remain eating—a traditional dish is a thick pea soup; drinking a "Berline Weisse," a big white beer with a shot of raspberry syrup; window shopping for everything from knickknacks to tablecloths worth $1,000, and tooling up and down the Ku-damm in hot cars or not so hot cars with hot-rod drivers.

When the sun goes down, west Berlin's masses of neon light up, glittering where right after World War II there was only a devastated black. Waiters get ready for the onslaught, and the fun people come out and play.

Despite the recovery from wartime destruction, however, this remains a city with more than its share of out of the ordinary problems.

But with its swinging life, it is possible to overlook them, or put them off at least until tomorrow.

TONS OF FOOD

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP)—It took a crew of 441 persons to cook the 600 pounds of ham, 1½ tons of chicken and 400 pounds of carrots for the thousands of visitors who came to see the 30th annual Mormon pageant, "America's Witness for Christ," on Hill Cumorah near here.

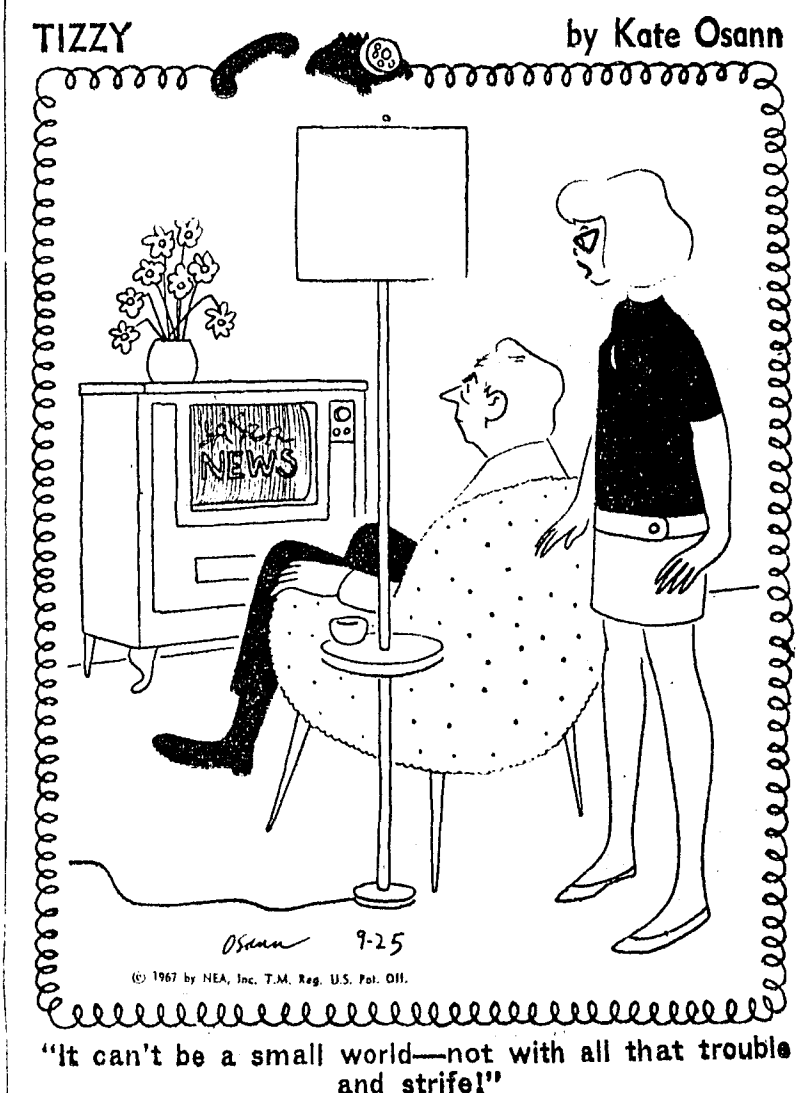

This town of about 6,500 ordinarily doesn't have the dining facilities to accommodate such crowds. Extra stoves were installed in the Palmyra Mormon Church, and Mormons volunteered about 4,000 hours of work in the food operation.

Singapore has started a $30-million urban renewal program, scheduled for completion by 1970. The project will include the razing and rebuilding of 1,700 acres in the heart of Singapore City.
